March 2, 2025

Queens Village Republican Club:

I'd like extend my warmest regards and congratulations to you in your 150th year, as America's oldest Republican Club. I hope this message finds you in good health and great spirits for tonight's Lincoln Dinner.

What a historic 2024 it was for this great country. And while there is much to be done in the City and State, we were at the center of this history throughout. For instance, Queens saw a nearly 22% increase in the vote for President Trump in 2024. This increase was seen across the nation and the city.

As the calendar turns to a new administration, and city elections, it is critical that we continue the hard and necessary work of building out a real alternative in New York City to one-party, one-perspective governance. The precinct strategy that Queens Village is implementing and the party-building we're seeing needs to continue if we are put this city on a Common-Sense agenda that puts Americans first.

From Staten Island and South Brooklyn to flipping Queens, continuing to improve in the Bronx, and fielding candidates and making the Common-Sense argument everywhere, including North Brooklyn and Manhattan, if we keep working hard together, the victory that felt so great last November can again be ours at the City and State level too.

Sincerely,

Hon. Inna Vernikov

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Rudolph Giuliani
America's Mayor

Rudy Giuliani earned the title "America's Mayor" from Oprah Winfrey at a 9/11 memorial service and was named Time Magazine's 2001 Person of the Year for his heroic leadership in rebuilding New York City after the worst terrorist attack in U.S. history. He was awarded an honorary knighthood by Queen Elizabeth II and the Presidential Freedom Award from President Ronald Reagan.

A Brooklyn native and grandson of Italian immigrants, Giuliani graduated from Bishop Loughlin H.S. and NYU Law School. As U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York (1983–1989), he led an unprecedented crackdown on organized crime, drug trafficking, and corruption, securing over 4,000 convictions.

Elected Mayor of New York City in 1993, Giuliani inherited a city plagued by crime, economic decline, and social disorder, with over 2000 murders a year, infamously known as the crime capital of America. Hopelessness and despair prevailed. The quality of life was abysmal with squeegee men out in force. Automobile owners posted "No Radio" signs in their car windows. The subways were rife with chronic fare-beaters, aggressive panhandling, and graffiti everywhere. Tourism was dead, housing values plummeting, schools were failing, people were fleeing en masse.

Mayor Giuliani came into office and saved New York City, getting violent criminals, knives, and guns off the streets. He first targeted the squeegee men, fare-beaters, vandalism, and minor crimes according to the "broken windows" theory of policing. Under his leadership murder was cut by 67% and overall crime by 56%. The city was known as the capital of welfare, with one in seven New Yorkers hooked on the addictive drug of government dependency. Mayor Giuliani cut welfare rolls by 60% by executing the largest and most successful welfare-to-work program in America. We witnessed the revival of the Theater District and Times Square, the resurgence of the finance industry and "Silicon Alley," leading to a decade of booming real estate values, exploding tourism, and corporations rushing back to relocate their headquarters. The city was thriving again - the subways were safe, the streets and the city parks were safe, and people were out enjoying life in the Big Apple day and night. Homes went for millions of dollars in Astoria, Bed-Stuy, Middle Village, Bellerose, and other once poor and middle-class neighborhoods, all thanks to Mayor Giuliani.

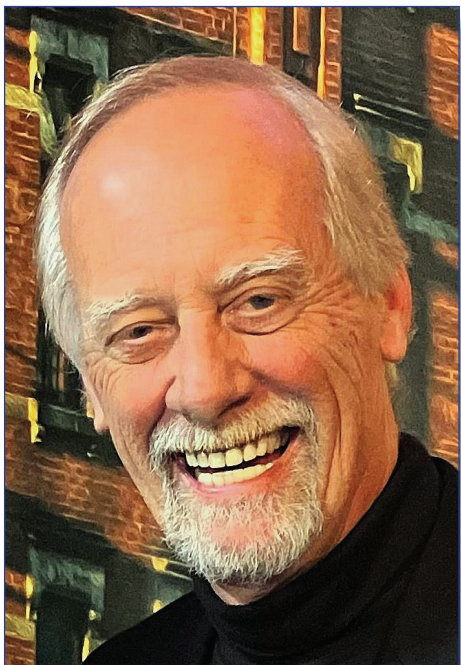

All that's good and prosperous in the city today is because of Rudy Giuliani, whose tenure ushered in a Golden Age for New York. His legacy remains one of transformative leadership and resilience and heroism in the face of crisis.

Honoree: Joyful Warrior Award

Tiffany Justice is a prominent advocate for parental rights in education. She is the wife and mother of four school-aged children who began a career in public service in 2016 by serving a four-year term on the School District of Indian River County, Florida, School Board. In January 2021 she co-founded Moms for Liberty, a nonprofit organization dedicated to empowering parents to defend their rights at all levels of government. Under her leadership Moms for Liberty grew to over 130,000 members and 300 chapters nationwide and the organization achieved a significant legal victory against the Biden administration's revisions to title IX which would have removed the protections and equal opportunity women fought decades to secure.

Tiffany has been featured in various media outlets including Fox News, Newsmax, MSNBC, and CBS discussing topics such as parental rights, education policies, and the role of parents in school curricula. At the Moms for Liberty 2024 National Summit Tiffany had the honor of engaging in a sit down conversation with president Trump and was considered a potential candidate for Secretary of Education in President-elect Donald Trump's administration.

She co-authored her first children's book, "Libby Justice Goes to Williamsburg," with fellow co-founder Tina Descovich. The book was released on November 14, 2024, and aims to introduce children to America's historic sites while addressing concerns about inappropriate content in children's literature.

In January 2025, Tiffany joined The Heritage Foundation as a visiting fellow to lead their new Parental Rights Initiative. In this role, she aims to dismantle barriers between parents and their children and restore parental authority in education and child-rearing.

Through her work with Moms for Liberty and The Heritage Foundation, Tiffany continues to be a vocal and passionate advocate for parental rights and educational reform across the United States. She remains focused on developing strategies to reclaim parental rights through legal, legislative, and grassroots initiatives.

Jayr Carter

Jayr Carter
Young American Patriot Award

Jayr Carter was born to Carla and Indio at North Shore Long Island Jewish Hospital in 2011. Despite being fired while on maternity leave after working for two years as a foster care caseworker, Carla ensured that she provided a safe and nurturing environment. Jay enjoyed playing with his Thomas & Friends trains while going on outdoor adventures from clubs for kids to museums.

At three years old, he attended Highland Elementary School, his second home located in Fresh Meadows. He continued to blossom physically, emotionally and was so happy to strengthen his voice, a voice that had recently awakened when he was almost three years old.

Sadly, after four years of creating a community that he and his family had grown to love, his mother who was a first-grade teacher, left due to the loss of the religious exemption in early September 2019. However, Jay and his parents rallied together for a short time from the streets of New York to Long Island and even prayed for the stay at the Riverdale Church where Robert F. Kennedy Jr. made his historical speech, and traveled to Albany on August 14, 2019, where they officially became activists.

Despite the challenges Jay and his mother endured, they stood their ground thanks to the help of some courageous “mama bears” and one in particular who directed them to Children’s Health Defense TV where they finally found their community, the Freedom Fighters of New York in August 2022. Thanks to the CHD episode about the Quarantine Camps, Jay and his mother connected with courageous men and women and rallied every chance they got.

To this day, Jay and his mother continue to support the workers who lost their jobs due to the Covid mandates and support the Freedom Fighting Community. When Jay isn’t attending rallies, he enjoys playing with his recorder and teaching himself the piano. In addition, he helps to spread truth and build communities to help children, and all humanity have a brighter and healthier future.

Born and raised in New York City, Scott's notable projects include multiple "Flags Across America Tours" where he painted a large flag on a rooftop in each of the 50 states. In similar fashion, LoBaido painted the largest American flag mural ever created. Initiated on Flag Day of 2010 and completed on Independence Day, this 150,000 square foot flag took over 900 gallons of paint to create, referred to by Scott as a birthday gift to America.

Scott's motivation is driven by the amazing freedoms we have to express ourselves, especially through art, derived primarily from the great sacrifices of our valiant service men and women, which LoBaido considers wildly underappreciated. Scott's bold, conservative values and creative mind often draw him to devise various public protests and performances to bring much needed attention to important cultural and political issues, such as government corruption, injustice, and the willful disregard and ill-treatment of veterans. Scott approaches these subjects in unique and powerful ways, knowing that his unorthodox endeavors will likely result in a shortvisit to the slammer.

Some of LoBaido's finest moments include performing speed paintings at Donald Trump's 2024 Presidential Rallies and fundraising for various charities to support Veterans and Public Servants. His documentary entitled, "The Relentless Patriot", released in theaters and now streaming, is a testament to Scott's multiple decades of patriotic pursuits, starting long before the MAGA movement was mainstream. Scott legacy will likely include being known as the most patriotic artist of his time, if not for all time.

Maud Maron

Maud Maron
Republican Woman of the Year

I'm Maud Maron, a lifelong New Yorker, mother of four, and passionate advocate for justice. Manhattan is my home, and like so many of you, I want to see our city thrive. I'm running for District Attorney because I believe everyone deserves to live and work in a safe, fair, and vibrant community.

For over 20 years, I served as a public defender in Manhattan and the Bronx, representing clients in both misdemeanor and felony cases. My work wasn't just about defending individuals—it was about standing up for the principle that justice should be accessible to all. As a Senior Trial Attorney and Director of Training at the Legal Aid Society, I had the privilege of mentoring young lawyers and developing programs that strengthened our justice system. I also taught at Cardozo Law School's Criminal Defense Clinic, sharing what I've learned with future legal professionals.

Outside the courtroom, I've worked hard to make a difference in our community. As the elected President of Community Education Council District 2, I fought for policies that put students first, emphasizing merit and opportunity in our schools. I co-founded PLACE NYC to advocate for preserving Specialized High School Admissions Tests, ensuring that every student has a fair shot at success through hard work and talent.

As Manhattan District Attorney, my vision is clear: I will restore safety to our streets and fairness to our justice system. This means holding criminals accountable, supporting victims, and addressing the root causes of crime with proactive and compassionate solutions that hold individuals responsible for their actions. I will repeal harmful policies that weaken public safety and ensure that the law is enforced evenly and transparently.

My goal is to make Manhattan a place where every family, small business, and resident feels safe and supported. I believe we can tackle the issues of rising crime, homelessness, and mental health in ways that restore our neighborhoods.

I'm running because I care about this borough, this city, and those that call it home and the nearly 65 million people from around the world who visited it last year. With decades of experience and a proven record of leadership, I'm ready to deliver safety and the common-sense, balanced justice that Manhattan is demanding and deserves.

My husband, our four children, and I live in lower Manhattan. This city has given us so much, and I'm committed to giving back by making it safer and fairer for all Manhattanites.

John Gilmore

John Gilmore
Freedom Fighter Award

John Gilmore is an advocate and community activist with more than twenty years' experience working on issues related to parental rights, medical policy reform, vaccine injury, autism, and disability policy. Since 2005 he has led the Autism Action Network, a national non-profit organization with 100,000 subscribers.

He has co-founded and works with a variety of organizations, most recently with American Values 2024, the leading Super PAC supporting the candidacy of Robert F. Kennedy Jr., and later Donald J. Trump and the Make America Healthy Again movement.

Gilmore became involved in these issues after his youngest child lost language and skills following a vaccine at twelve months. It became evident that his son suffered significant neurological injury which was later labelled "autism."

Gilmore determined that his son had been injected with more than seventy-five times the maximum allowable mercury exposure for a full-grown adult according to federal standards. He initiated an effort in New York to ban the use of thimerosal, a mercury-based adjuvant and preservative widely in use in vaccines in the early 2000s. A grassroots organizing effort among parents of vaccine-injured children and their supporters was successful in banning thimerosal in New York in 2005. This was part of a successful nationwide effort to ban mercury in shots.

The Autism Action Network took the lead in organizing parents of people with autism and allies to pass laws in New York and other states to outlaw discrimination against people with autism by insurance companies and ended barriers to medical treatment among many other issues.

Beginning in 2015 the focus of Gilmore's work shifted to fighting the efforts in dozens of states to eliminate parents' rights to religious and secular exemptions from vaccine mandates for their children to attend school. These threats led to the rapid growth of grassroots resistance groups in every state that are still active on related issues. At this time Gilmore founded New York Health Voters, a political action committee, to back candidates who support Constitutional response to COVID, and in the most recent election fighting Proposal 1, the "Parent Replacement Act."

In 2019 Gilmore was asked by Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. to organize the first state chapter of Kennedy's Children's Health Defense. Children's Health Defense NY is at the forefront of coalition building and coordinating the rapidly growing medical rights movement to fight COVID vaccine mandates for education and employment, passports, lockdowns, school closures, mask mandates and other "public health measures" lacking any scientific basis. One of these projects was the "Cuomo's Gotta Go" campaign.

Gilmore's work now focuses on implementing the Make America Healthy Again agenda, and electing candidates dedicated to Make America Healthy Again principles.

He lives in Long Beach, New York with his wife Jenifer and his younger son Luke. He has a Master's Degree in Public Policy from the University of California, Berkeley.
